Project Contribution & Impact

During his internship, John became an essential part of our team, contributing directly to the development and optimization of all our websites and digital platforms. His work led to faster load times, smoother user flows, and seamless API integrations across our live e-commerce site.

In addition to technical implementation, he proactively suggested improvements and contributed to strategic design decisions aimed at optimizing communication and user experience.

The work included:

- Developing and refining features in our custom SvelteKit + Shopify storefronts
- Implementing responsive layouts, loading states, and interactive user flows
- Integrating external APIs, including Meta and Klaviyo
- Optimizing performance and improving web responsiveness
- Supporting CRM tools and automation through Loox and analytics platforms
- Contributing to internal developer tools and collaborative Git workflows

John consistently demonstrated exceptional work ethic, adaptability, and a proactive mindset. He's not only skilled and reliable — he's the kind of teammate every company hopes to have. We recommend him without hesitation.
